[EDITORIAL ON FOURTH PAGE]

—City council meeting to-night.

—Nathan Underwood is home.

—W. F. Fraser is here from Polo.

—Mrs. R. L. Morton is again quite ill.

—Ed. Senniff is ill with catarrhal fever.

—Mrs. H. J. Brooks is here from Elgin on a visit.

—George Beckenham has recovered from his illness.

—D. W. Beard, of Polo, was fishing here yesterday.

—The much needed street cleaning is rapidly going on.

—Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Underwood were here from Sterling yesterday.

—You will go to the base ball dance at Armory Hall to-morrow night.

—Mrs. D. R. Bowles has been dangerously ill but is somewhat better.

—Hon. H. D. Dement came this afternoon to attend Col. Noble's funeral.

—Miss Clem Swygart is assisting Misses Myers & Walden at their millinery establishment.

The Feast of Days will be a feast in every sense of the word. Don't fail to give it a call.

—Stewart Jacobs at the shoe factory had a finger crushed yesterday by being caught in a machine.

—Mrs. J. G. A. Clopper and Mrs. H. T. Porter, of Polo, are visiting Mrs John Hammer of North Dixon.

—The body of Mrs. Wood, who was drowned near Roscoe, in Rock river, in March, has not been found.

—Major Roper, of Rockford, and O. F. Herrick, of Princeville, are here to attend Col. Noble's funeral.

—George W. Uhl, brother of John Uhl of this city, died at his home in Holmes county, Ohio, aged 67 years.

—Mrs. John Heft was to-day called to Chicago by a telegram announcing the serious illness of her mother.

Give your eyes a treat and look in upon the Feast of Days this afternoon and evening at the Baptist church.

—The case of diphtheria we reported yesterday in the Hopkins family is over Thomann's saloon and not Null's.

Remember "The Feast of Days" this afternoon and evening at the Baptist church. Supper from five to eight.

—Evening prayer in the Vestry of St. Luke's church at 7:30 this evening. Confirmation instruction at eight o'clock.

—Charles McBride and William Vann have done good work decorating the Drynan & Dollmyer tonsorial parlors.

—Ellis Hampton arrived home this morning in an answer to a telegram announcing the death of Col. H. T. Noble.

—The first fine string of fish we have seen this season was carried up the street from the river by Olie Franklin this morning.

—E. C. Underwood, of Sterling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Underwood, of this city, is considering plans for a fine new residence in that city.

—We understand that S. Hermanns of the Grand Detour Plow factory, superintended the church decorations for the Coleman-Brubaker wedding.

—Dr. Plummer, surgeon of the thirteenth, an old army friend of Colonel Noble, came up last evening from Rock Island to attend the funeral.

—The monument soon to be erected at Judge John V. Eustace's grave was made by the "Tan York Creek Stone Company," who have an office at 34 Ashland Block, Chicago.

—H. L. Kittenbrock, a breakman on the Central, fell from the top of a car this morning, receiving severe injury. Though no bones broken it is feared that he may have received internal bruises.

—Major McCloughrey, formerly warden of the Joliet prison, and afterward appointed to the Huntington, Pa., reformatory, has again been promoted to a similar institution at Pittsburg.

—Whether or not it was a harbenger of hope for pleasant weather we know not, but that was a beautiful rain-bow which spanned the Eastern sky before and for a short time after sunset last night.

—Misses Anna and Lotta Carpenter entertained Miss Perkins and Schriver and Messrs. H. E. Spear and C. P. Herrick, of Polo, yesterday afternoon, and in the evening all attended the J. P. T Club party at Schuler's hall.

—Ten distinguished "singers" arrived at T. J. Miller's music store yesterday morning. Everybody is invited to go and hear them sing the "Song of The Shirt" in a pleasant manner never dreamed by the sad poet Hood.

—William Shepard, a prominent young farmer residing near Galena, accidentally shot himself Tuesday afternoon while loading a revolver. The ball entered his body about an inch from the heart and the wound will prove fatal.

—A communication in this paper yesterday stated that the janitor of the south side school had made a report of the health of the children in his district. It should have read the truant officers, as the janitor, Frank Spiller, was "not in it."

—"Edrick," the large mastiff belonging to C. N. Powell, of Omaha, which our citizens will remember as an object of curiosity here at Dixon when it was in charge of Lloyd Hawley last fall, took second prize at the recent Bench show in Chicago.

—Charles H. Wooster, of Amboy, member of the committee from the Lee county bar accompanied by Judge Farrand, attended the meeting of lawyers at Freeport yesterday on matters concerning the coming judicial election.

A convention was called for May 15th at Freeport.

—Drop in any evening about half past three o'clock and take a took at two power presses, run by a ten horse power gas engine, printing THE EVENING TELEGRAPH. You can have then some idea of our circulation, a thing that every advertiser has a right to know, and, in fact, if he has a good business head on his shoulders he will know.

—The following ticket has been printed for members of the board of education in the North Dixon school district. The election takes place to-morrow afternoon from four to six o'clock: A. C. Warner, president; O. J. Downing, T. J. Miller, N. F. Swartwout, Albert Johnson, John R. Carpenter, George Morris.

In response to an invitation from the North American Review, Sig. Crispi, the late Prime Minister of Italy, has promised to write an article for that periodical which will appear in an early number. His contribution will be strictly in keeping with the timeliness which plays so prominent a part in the conduct of that publication.

He told his twelve-year-old son to milk the cows, feed the horses, slop the pigs, hunt up the eggs, feed the calves, catch the colt and put him in the stable, cut some wood, split up kindlings, stir the cream, pump fresh water in the creamery after supper, and be sure to study his lesson before he went to bed. Then he went to the farmers' club to discuss the question "How to Keep the Boys on the Farm." —Ex.

—At the request of many friends the following named gentlemen have consented to be candidates for members of the Board of Education in North Dixon: O J. Downing, Albert Johnson, John R. Carpenter, George A. Morris, W. B. Page and E. C. Parsons. W. D. Barge is a candidate for President of the Board. These gentlemen will make a very good Board The polls will be open at the school house from four to six o'clock.

—Thus it is that our idols are knocked down, crushed or in a thousand ways made to disappear from earth In the Century for the present month, Moncure D. Conway shows quite conclusively that Frederick the Great never presented Washington with a sword engraved with the words: "From the Oldest to the Greatest of Generals." In fact the Prussian king never made Washington a present, and never cared very much for George anyway.

—The Dixon District Epworth League met in semi-annual convention at DeKalb on April 13 and 14 The League is scarcely two years old and yet this convention was attended by eighty delegates representing twenty-seven leagues. This organization is the banding together of the youth of the M. E. church, and the young laity are meeting all questions with intelligence and consecration. Social topics touching upon religious work were thoroughly discussed and the earnest spirit manifest was evidence that these youths "dare to have a purpose and dare to make it known." The next convention will be held at Sterling.

—A very unique event of the Coleman-Brubaker wedding reception last night was a prophetic search for the coming bride and groom, the newly married Mr and Mrs. Coleman, acting as mascots. The exciting enterprise was commenced by the blindfolding of the bride and groom (the little god love is supposed to be blind) and then they started out on a mission, searching among the unmarried ladies and gentlemen, encircling about each, bent on finding the next candidates for Hymenial bliss. As a designation mark the rose was pinned upon Miss Martha Throop by the bride, and the groom, after a long search among the young men unwittingly and inadvertantly as to the enternal fitness of things fastened the prophetic flower upon that "old war horse" (we hope not as Job's, that "smelleth the battle afar") William McBride. As this is the fifteenth wedding at which Mr. McBride has officiated as usher it is hardly possible that the rose will work out his fate, and as the ancient saw places the limit of such official terms at only three before he himself should be engaging ushers, we may doubt the efficacy of that rosy mascot. Perhaps, however, Will did not forget that one of the inexorable rules put down in the book of mascots is that when a mascot marries he becomes a hoodoo.

ORANGE BLOSSOMS.

Mr. Frederick Oswald Coleman and Miss Nellie Brubaker Married at Half-past Eight o'clock last Evening.

St. Luke's, with its dimly flickering lights last night, while the "beauty and the chivalry" of Dixon gathered in the early twilight within its sacred walls, manifested a sombre mien, but at the appointed moment, when the electric lights flashed their brilliant rays over the church, filled with anxiously waiting people, the change in aspect was so sudden and beautiful, that the sweet tones of the wedding march at the appropriate time, were all the more inspiring.

The church was very prettily decorated in evergreens and palms. The isles and chancel floor were covered with white canvas. A beautiful net-work of white ribbons radiated from different points, and a beautiful wedding bell hung in the dome, while bright Easter lilies decorated the altar.

Promptly at the hour designated for the ceremony, and after the friends were in their seats, Mr. Bret Brubaker and Mr. Louie Dement, carried the white ribbons up the centre isle and fastened them to the pews reserved for the relatives. Miss Harriet Stroup, who had been playing selections from Wagner during the arrival of guests, now began "Lohengrin's" wedding march, and the flower girls, little Sadie Brubaker, sister of the bride, and Georgie Steel, both dressed in white China silk, came from the vestry, followed by the bridemaids, Miss Mae Coleman, with Miss Mae Soule and Miss Bess Pauline Eells, with Miss Katherine Godfrey. Their dresses were of beautiful white silk, and each carried a bouquet of white roses. Coming down the centre aisle they met the bride on the arm of her father, Mr. Jacob Brubaker, preceded by the maid of honor, Miss Martha Throop, who wore a gown of lemon-color

ANOTHER DAY OF WARM WELCOMES.

Farewell to Tennessee and Hail to Alabama—Some Reflections on Watermelons—The Reception at Birmingham an Enthusiastic Cyclone—A Case in Which the President Regretted That His Fee Was Not in Town Lots—As to Reciprocity and Our Shipping Interests—Off for Memphis.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 17.—President Harrison's train left Atlanta yesterday at 9 a. m. Just before leaving the president made a brief speech from the rear platform of his car, thanking the people for their hearty hospitality. Referring to the war he said: "I can have but one thought now as to what was best. We can all say—the Confederate soldier who carried a gun for what seemed to him to be right, as well as the soldier of the north—that the Lord knew better than any of us what was best for the country and the world." There were loud calls for Postmaster General Wanamaker. He said: "That man is unfortunate who is called on to speak after the president. * * * Of all objects in your city I looked with most interest upon a house where a great light has gone out, and felt again the common sorrow at the absence of Henry Grady—the man whose life and influence were larger than Atlanta; the words he spoke, and the principles he stood for cannot be forgetten. * * * I wish we had come sooner and could stay longer." Mr. Wanamaker's reference to Grady was loudly cheered.

A Yankee Town in the South.

The locomotive which drew the train was resplendent in red, white, and blue, and above the headlight was fixed a portrait of the president. All the stations along the line were decorated, and at every point there was a crowd of people who cheered as the train dashed by. When stops were made a committee of citizens came aboard and greeted the president. At Tallapoosa, a "Yankee town under a southern sun," there was a warm welcome. The president made a speech, in the course of which he said: "The whole theory of our institutions is that pursuing those election methods which we have prescribed under the constitution every man shall exercise freely the right of suffrage that law confides to him, and the majority, when it has expressed itself, shall conclude the issue for us all. There is no other foundation. This was the enduring base upon which the fathers of our country placed our institutions. Let us always keep them there. Let us press the debate in our campaigns as to what the law should be; but let us keep faith and submit with that reverence and respect which is due the law, whence once lawfully enacted." [Applause.]

Across the Line Into Alabama.

Shortly after leaving Tallapoosa the train crossed the line into Alabama, and at Henry Elian station Governor Jones, of the latter state, joined the party. The next notable reception was at Anniston, where half the population was at the railway station cheering lustily, while the uproar was increased by the shrieks of the whistles on the manufactories, and a strain of more melodious tone was heard in the ringing of the bells The town was bright with bunting, and windows were filled with people, while the very tops of the houses were occupied by masses of humanity. A flat car was drawn up at the station for a speaking stand, and from this the president addressed the multitude, after addresses by ex-Lieutenant Governor McElroy and W. A. Stevens, a colored citizen.

The President's Speech.

As he had done at nearly every place he stopped to speak the president first noted the indications of prosperity and the remarkable change in the diversity of industries since the war, and the fact that products which had not been thought worth selling before the war now made important additions to the traffic of the country. Said he: "I am glad to know that in the mineral region there are nearly 100,000 acres devoted to raising watermelons. [Laughter.] No farmer, certainly no planter, in the old time would have consented to sell watermelons. You are learning that things which were small and despised have come to be great elements in your commerce. Now your railroads make special provision for the transportation of a crop which in the aggregate brings large wealth to your people. I mention this as a good illustration of the changing condition into which you are entering."

THE ARRIVAL IN BIRMINGHAM.

A Warm Day, but Not Warmer Than the Welcome of the People.

Amid a hurricane of cheers the train pulled out of Anniston and went flying along, past hamlets where a half hundred people gathered to cheer the travelers, past villages where the total population of a few hundreds was lined along the rails, full of enthusiasm, and past towns where still larger crowds gathered, sometimes with brass bands and cannon, to bid the president godspeed; and so on to this city, where, although the day was the warmest of the season, it was not warmer than the welcome prepared and given. From a point six miles from the city the factory and locomotive whistles began giving notice of the approach of the train, until by the time it had reached here the very heavens were split by the enthusiastic uproar. Cannon boomed, bells rang, and added to this was a roar of cheers from the throats of thousands who had packed themselves in and about the station.

Welcomed by the Governor.

President Harrison was escorted to a platform by Governor Jones and Mayor Lane, and as soon as he could obtain sufficient quiet to make himself heard, the governor, in a brief but eloquent address, welcomed the president to Birmingham. He was followed by Mayor Lane, and as each concluded he grasped the president's hand, an incident that started the wildest cheering each time it occurred. The president then came forward to respond to the welcome. He thanked the people for the hospitable greeting they had given him, and regretted that time would not permit him to look with any detail at the great enterprises which had made Birmingham what it is.

A Matter of Regret.

Speaking of the marvellous growth of the city, he said:

I remember to-day that not many years after the war, when I had resumed my law practice at Indianapolis, I was visited by a gentleman known, I expect, to all of you, upon professional business. He came to me to pursue a collection claim against a citizen of Indianapolis, but he seemed to be beat more on talking about Birmingham than anything else. [Laughter and cheering.] That man was Col. Powell, one of the early promoters of your city. [Cheers.] I listened to his story of marvellous wealth of iron and coal that was stored in this region, of their nearness to each other and to the limestone necessary for smelting; to his calculations as to cheapness with which iron could be produced here, and his glowing story of the great city that was to be reared, with a good deal of incredulity. I thought he was a visionary; but I have regretted ever since that I did not ask him to pay my fee in town lots in Birmingham. [Laughter and cheers.]

With Reference to Reciprocity.

Referring to the production of cotton in the south he said that since the war it had brought into that section $8,000,000,000. He went on:

But as yet you are spinning in the south only 8 per cent. of it. Why not, with the help we will give you in New England and the north, spin it all? [Cheers.] Why not, while supplying 65,000,000 of people, reach out and take a part we have not had in the commerce of the world? [Cheers.] I believe we are now to see a renaissance in American prosperity and an upbuilding of our American merchant marine. I believe that these southern ports that so favorably look out with invitations to the states of Central and South America shall yet see our fleets carrying the American flag and products of Alabama to the markets of South America.

The Question of Shipping.

In all this we are united. We may differ as to methods, but if you will permit, I will give you an illustration to show how we have been dealing with the shipping question. I can remember when no wholesale merchants ever sent a drummer into the field He said to his customers: "Come to my store and buy." But competition increased. Enterprising merchants started out men to secure customers, and thus fellow merchants were put to the choice of putting men in the field or go out of business. It seems to me that whatever we may think of the policy of aiding steamships, since every other great nation does it, we must do it or stay out of the business, for we have pretty much gone out. [Cheers.]

I am glad to reciprocate with the very fullness of my heart every fraternal expression that has fallen from the lips of these gentlemen who have addressed me in your behalf. I have not been saved from mistakes; probably I shall not be. I am sure of but one thing: I can declare I have singly at heart the glory of the American nation and the good of all its people. [Great and prolonged cheering.] I thank these companies of the state militia, one of whom I recognize as having done me the honor to attend the inaugural ceremonies, for their presence. * * * It is our policy not to have a large regular army, but to have a trained military that in any exigency will step to the defense of the country, and if that exigency shall ever arise, which God forbid, I know that you will respond as quickly and readily as any other state. [Cheers.]

The Governor—You will find all Alabama at your back, sir. [Continued cheering.]

Visiting Points of Interest.

With a plea for pure, God-fearing American homes the president closed amid great and continued applause. The military and civic parade was then got in motion, the president's carriage, drawn by four horses led by grooms, taking a position near the center. The parade was a creditable one in every respect. Excursion trains had brought thousands of people to the city and the streets along the line of march were densely packed, while the cheering was continuous and the decorations elaborate. As the procession passed the opera house the members of a traveling opera company appeared on the balcony and sang "America."

Demonstration by School Children.

On one of the principal streets the school children of the city were assembled en masse. As the carriage containing the president was passing the children, two little tots stepped forward and handed to the president a beautifully illuminated address from all the school children in the city. The president was taken by surprise, and had his carriage halt. Stepping down to the ground, he kissed each of the little ones who made the presentation. The crowd cheered and the children sang "America" as the president drove on. The drive ended at the Caldwell hotel, where cars were taken by the presidential party to South Highlands, where a bird's-eye view of the city was obtained.

Reception by the Colored People.

The party returned from the Highlands to the Caldwell hotel, where a short reception was held, after which about 300 ladies and gentlemen sat down with the presidential party to an informal lunch. President Harrison then went to a reception given by the colored citizens at the Sixteenth Street Baptist church, and responded briefly to an address of welcome. After the reception he was driven to the train which left for Memphis amid the cheers of an immense crowd shortly after 8 o'clock.

Western Base Ballists at Work.

CHICAGO, April 17.—The Western Base Ball association begun its championship season yesterday with the following results At Omaha—Milwaukee 13, Omaha 6; at Denver—Sioux City 2, Denver 6; at Lincoln, Neb.—Minneapolis 6, Lincoln 5; at Kansas City—No game, wet grounds.

Yesterday's Association base ball scores are given as follows: At Baltimore—Athletic 4, Baltimore 15; at Washington City—Boston 12, Washington 0; at Louisville—Cincinnati 7, Louisville 5; at St. Louis—No game, rain.

The Result of Too Much Whisky.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 17.—Some days ago Dave Barr, a well-known saloonkeeper of this place, challenged a rival named Dorsey to fight a duel. The latter promptly accepted, but on the way to the West Virginia state line Barr conveniently fell into the river and was nearly drowned, thus preventing the duel. Wednesday Barr, in the presence of his wife and mother, blew his brains out with the dueling pistol he intended for Dorsey. He had been drinking hard and quarreling frequently of late.

Anna Dickinson to Lecture.

NEW YORK, April 17.—Anna Dickinson says that she is going on the lecture platform and will tell the public what she thinks of the treatment she has received. She adds, however, that the fact is that she is in need of money, and hopes by lecturing to get enough to carry on the suits against her sister and others, which she is about to commence.

Charges Against Prison Officials.

PHILADELPHIA, April 17.—Rev. James Y. Ashton, who was for years the chaplain and moral instructor in the eastern penitentiary has submitted a long statement to the legislative investigating committee in which he charges Warden Cassidy and the keepers of that institution with the practice of horrible brutality. Specific details are given in the statement.

The Attorney General Still Ill.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 17.—Attorney General Miller is still confined to his residence by illness, and unless he is much better by Monday will be unable to appear for the government in the hearing of the Sayward case, which comes up in the supreme court.

MOREWOOD'S RIOT.

Latest Testimony Before the Coroner and Jury.

WITNESSES ALL AGAINST THE MOB.

Strikers the Aggressors from the Start, and Guilty of Doing the First Shooting—Relief Money Received at Scottdale and in Course of Distribution—A Sheriff Stampeded by Polish Women at an Eviction—Gov. Pattison Insists Upon Withdrawing the Troops.

GREENSBURG, Pa., April 17.—Coroner Wakefield's jury in the Morewood riot case reconvened here yesterday with a very large attendance from the vicinity of the riot. The testimony was very damaging to the strikers. The witnesses at the morning session all agreed that the rioters, about 200 in number, had been very disorderly in their march to Morewood, having stoned several houses and threatened to kill the male occupants for refusing to join in the raid. They had threatened to burn the company store and destroy the ovens at Morewood; had threatened the deputies with violence, and were armed with clubs and stones, some having revolvers, which they frequently fired. The testimony of the secretary of the Miners' union, in the main, corroborated the evidence given by the deputies.

The Strikers Fired First.

During the afternoon a large number of witnesses gave evidence concerning the raid. The evidence showed conclusively that the raid was systematically planned and carried out by a mob of between 400 and 500 strikers; that the strikers acted on the offensive throughout, and that Capt. Loar and his deputies only carried out the instructions of Sheriff Clawson when they fired upon the mob, who were in the act of destroying the coke company's property. The deputies withheld their fire until after the strikers had sent a volley at the deputies, the latter firing without the word of command. The inquest then adjourned for the day.

TROUBLE OVER AN EVICTION.

The Sheriff Attacked with Hot Water and Coffee.

UNIONTOWN, Pa. April 17.—Sheriff McCormick started out on his eviction tour yesterday morning, and was himself evicted before his task was completed. He met with no trouble in setting out six families at Morgan's but at the Trotter works, in attempting to oust the family of Fred Strausach, a stalwart Polander, he met with a lively reception. A crowd of strikers kept the deputies from entering Strausach's house, while the sheriff himself was met in the house by Strausach's wife and five other women, who charged on him furiously. They threw hot water and hot coffee on him, and then pitched him out through the door. They were armed with new axes and mining picks, and would have killed the sheriff had he persisted. Subsequently Strausach went to Connellsville to prosecute the sheriff, when he was arrested and taken to jail.

"SINEWS" FOR THE STRIKERS.

The Labor Leaders Distributing Money Among the Needy.

SCOTTDALE, Pa., April 17.—The strikers in the coke region were much encouraged last night. A large sum of relief money was received from Columbus during the day. James McBride, a member of the district executive committee, is busy distributing the money where most needed. The strike leaders maintain a bold front, but the increased shipments show that the operators are gradually gaining. The companies are employing Italians. A few strikers' families were evicted at Summit, Morgan's and Leisenring yesterday. Several hundred notices have been served at various places and wholesale evictions are threatened

Going to Withdraw the Troops.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 17.—A Harrisburg special to The Times says: Adjt. Gen. McClelland left for Greensburg last night, and the tenth regiment, N. G. P., will be withdrawn from the coke region either to-day or to-morrow. Sheriff Clawson, of Westmoreland county, has telegraphed the governor requesting that the troops be permitted to remain, as he anticipates serious trouble when the whole sale evictions are attempted next week. The governor, however, informed Sheriff Clawson that if trouble broke out again, which the local authorities could not cope with, the troops would be ordered to the sheriff's assistance at once.

Rejected the Eight-Hour Day.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 17.—The master builders of Pittsburg and Allegheny held a meeting at the builders' exchange last night, at which they definitely rejected the demands of the journeymen for an eight-hour work day on and after May 1. If a strike results about 20,000 men will be involved.

In Recognition of Sympathy.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 17.—Private Secretary Halford and his daughter, Miss Jeanette, have received so many calls and telegrams and letters of condolence in their sad bereavement that they find it impossible to make personal acknowledgement. They desire to express their grateful appreciation and sincere thanks for the sympathy extended to them.

Tariff Debate at Boston.

BOSTON, April 17.—An interesting debate upon the tariff question occurred in Tremont temple Wednesday night. Hon. Thomas G. Sherman, of New York, argued for free trade and Congressman Horr, of Michigan, for protection. The speakers received considerable applause from the spectators, of whom there were several hundred.

That Newspaper Embargo Explained.

NEW YORK, April 17.—In reference to exclusion of Italian newspapers, Assistant Postmaster Gayler said yesterday that since September papers have been repeatedly refused admission to New York mails, not only from Italy, but from Germany, France, and Austria, because they contained lottery advertisements.

Those Burglars Should Feel Unhappy.

KOHOKA, Mo., April 17.—The Van Buren County bank at Farmington was entered through the roof by burglars Tuesday night and the vault blown open with dynamite. The burglars became frightened and departed empty-handed. About $10,000 were in the bank vault at the time.

Starting Facts.

The American people are rapidly becoming a race of nervous wrecks, and the following suggests the best remedy: Alphonso Hempfling, of Butler, Pa., swears that when his son was speechless from St. Vitus dance Dr. Miles great Restorative Nervine cured him. Mrs. J. R. Miller, of Valparaiso, and J. D Taylor, of Logansport, Ind., each gained 20 pounds from taking it. Mrs. H. A Gardner, of Vistula, Ind., was cured of 40 to 50 convulsions a day, and much headache, dizziness, backache, and nervous prostration by one bottle. He Yelled Kemp's Balsam

I yell "Take Kemp's Balsam, the best cough cure." I always do when I hear a man cough, and I can't help it It saved me and it will cure you. I was threatened with pneumonia last winter and it broke it up. It helps the children out when their throats are sore, cures their coughs, and tastes so good. The first dose helps you. So writes A. R. Arnold, engineer on the West Shore Ry., at Canajoharie, New York.

Macbeth's "pearl top" and "pearl glass" lamp-chimneys do not break from heat, not one in a hundred; they break from accidents.

They are made of clear glass as well as tough, as clear as crystal. They fit the lamps they are made for. Shape controls the draft; they are shaped right. Draft contributes to proper combustion; that makes light; they improve the light of a lamp.

But they cost a dealer three times as much as common chimneys, and, as they do not break, he is apt to be anxious lest they stop his trade. Diminished sales and less profit are not agreeable to him.

There are two sides to the question. Have a talk with him.

DOINGS AT SPRINGFIELD, ILL.

The House Has a Taste of Gen. Filibuster's Tactics.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., April 17.—The senate yesterday passed the bill requiring the standing committees to be appointed within two weeks after organization, the Democrats all voting "No." A joint resolution was introduced for sine die adjournment May 29. A bill was introduced providing for a settlement of the lake front squabble between Chicago and the Illinois Central. Other bills were introduced, several advanced, and two of no general importance passed.

Filibustering in the House.

The attempt to reconsider the vote on Van Praag's dram shop bill was defeated in the house. It being the last day for the introduction of bills there was a perfect avalanche of them, and then the special order, the ballot reform bill, was taken up. The Republicans wanted to amend it so that instead of burning the ballots immediately after the official count they should be kept for six months, but the Democrats defeated the amendment and then ordered the previous question. The Republicans immediately began filibustering, and kept it up until it was agreed that the bill should be special order for next Thursday, the previous question being reconsidered. The bill requiring weekly payment of wages was passed, and goes to the governor. It was 8 p. m. before the house adjourned.

The Michigan Statesmen.

LANSING, Mich., April 17.—It has been decided by the house committee on ways and means to cut the appropriation for the Kalamazoo Asylum for the insane to $22,400. The house yesterday took the Coldwater school appropriation bill from the table and passed it along to the committee on engrossment and enrollment for presentation to the governor. The committee on military affairs has favorably reported to the house a bill prohibiting the importation of armed men into Michigan to do police duty. The measure is designed to shut out Pinkerton men.

Legislation in Wisconsin.

MADISON, Wis., April 17.—The senate yesterday advanced the congressional and legislative apportionment bills to third reading. The bill providing for the destruction of all ballots, except those in dispute, immediately after the official count was passed. The house put the apportionment bills forward to third reading also, and passed the anti-trust bill, and the bill providing for a game and fish warden. The senate passed the house bill authorizing the state to loan the agricultural society $150,000 to purchase permanent fair grounds.

THE FATAL NAKED LAMP.

It Results in a Mine Explosion with Probably Four Fatalities.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., April 17.—A fatal explosion of mine gas occurred in No. 10 colliery at Gearytown, near Tamaqua, yesterday, by which one man was killed outright, another is supposed to be dead, two are fatally injured and three others are badly burned. The list of killed and injured is as follows: James Haggerty, of Lansford, married, two children—killed outright; William Backus, of Coaldale, married, fatally hurt; Fred Herback, of Tamaqua, 16 years old, fatally hurt; man, name unknown, of Gearytown, still in the mine, supposed to be dead; James Davis, Joseph Gallagher and Charles Keeman, badly burned. The explosion was caused by a naked lamp.

ALLEN O. MEYERS BADLY HURT.

Theatrical Manager Hill Gives Him the "Strangler" Hold.

CHICAGO, April 17.—A special to The Herald from Cincinnati says: While Allen O. Meyers was standing in the Grand hotel Wednesday J. M. Hill, the well-known theatrical manager, came up behind him, and, putting his arm around his neck, gave him the "strangler" hold. The strain was so sudden that it ruptured a blood vessel. A doctor was immediately called, and after receiving attention Meyers was taken home. The injury was not thought serious, but yesterday afternoon Meyers had another violent hemorrhage, and last night the doctors considered his condition very critical.

Another $2 Counterfeit Certificate.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 17.—Another $2 counterfeit silver certificate was received at the treasury department yesterday. It was sent by a bank in this city. The counterfeit is a very dangerous one. It is of the series of 1886, check letter B, 1864. The note bears the portrait of Gen. Hancock, and is signed by W. S. Rosecrans as register and James W. Hyatt as United States treasurer. The "i" in register is not dotted, and the "t" in "states" is not crossed. The geometrical lathe work is well done. The back of the counterfeit is excellently executed, and the general appearance of the note is likely to deceive even the most expert.

Rudini on Blaine's Letter.

ROME, April 17.—Premier Rudini made a statement in the chamber of deputies yesterday regarding Secretary Blaine's last letter on the New Orleans trouble. The effect of his remarks was that Italy did not know New Orleans or the state of Louisiana, and would insist that the United States assume all the responsibility there was in the matter. A treaty was of no value if the nations signing it were not sovereign in their respective limits, and any political division could make its obligations null. He had no doubt that the difficulty would be settled amicably.

They Were Sound Sleepers.

CUMBERLAND, Md., April 17.—Between 2 and 3 o'clock in the morning the safe in the Cumberland Brewing company's office in this city was blown open by burglars and between $40 and $50 taken therefrom. The safe was completely demolished as was also all the windows in the building. A watchman and fireman were asleep in the building at the time, but heard no noise. No clue to the robbers.

The Wheat in Good Shape.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 17.—Secretary Bagley, of the state board of agriculture has returned from a trip to the northern part of the state, and a visit to his home at Huntington. He says there never was such a prospect for a large wheat crop as there is this spring.

Our Mary Is Not a Mother.

LONDON, April 17.—A reporter went to Bournemouth yesterday and learned that the story of Mary Anderson de Navarro's having become a mother is untrue. It is said that Mrs. Navarro is very unhappy and wants to return to the stage.

RADICALS ON TOP.

Row in Prospect for the Commercial Congress.

SERIOUS INDICATIONS OF A BOLT.

The Free Trade, Free Silver, and Currency Inflation Men Control the Gathering and the Resolutions Committee—A Lively Time Looked for Over the Report—A. J. Warner, of Ohio, and Judge Widner, of Los Angeles, Give Their Views.

KANSAS CITY, April 17.—It is evident that the attempt at the commercial congress to discuss political matters without going into politics is doomed to failure. For some days the belief has been growing among those who are here in attendance on the congress that the whole thing was rapidly developing into a political movement. The debate indulged in Wednesday night between Congressman Breckinridge, of Arkansas, and Chauncey I. Filley, of St. Louis, showed the trend of thought, and showed that the rule of non-partisanship would be dropped on all occasions where the ideas advanced were in conflict with the views of those who took part in the proceedings.

A Fight Over the Resolutions.

Senator H. B. Kelley, of Kansas, who is looked upon as the father of the convention, said last evening that it was time to break away from party fealty and, if necessary, form a new party which would give the west and south that which they could not otherwise obtain. He said that what he wanted was free coinage and low tariff, and this was what would be worked for. The conflict will begin when the committee on resolutions presents its report. This fight was presaged Wednesday, when there was a long wrangle over the vote that should be cast on all resolutions and in which it was plainly shown that such states as Indiana, Minnesota, and Illinois would not be allowed a vote in the matter unless they agreed to everything that Kansas, Oklahoma, and Missouri, with the southern states, asked for.

Free Trade and Free Coinage.

The resolutions will indorse free and unlimited coinage of silver, the issuance of paper money by the government redeemable in coin, tariff for revenue, and the immediate foreclosure of the mortgages on the Union Pacific railroad and branches. There will be a minority report on all of these questions, as the vote in committee stood 11 to 8, and the minority gave notice that they, too, would present a report. The debate in committee was hot, and it is openly asserted that if the radical portion of the congress persists in carrying out its policy the men from the conservative states will undoubtedly withdraw from the meeting and refuse to indorse the proceedings.

Matters Discussed Yesterday.

Yesterday James Peabody read a paper on railway pools and held that low rates were not so necessary as stable ones. C. W. Blair began to discuss transportation, but soon got on the currency question and advocated inflation. He wanted free trade also, qualified, however, with reciprocity. He said that all the recent railway legislation was bad, including the interstate commerce law. William E. Schweppe, president of the St. Louis Wholesale Grocers' association, said railways were not private property, but public trusts. He added the seeming contradiction that he did not want to restrict the right of American citizens to build railways, but did not want them built by private citizens.

Improving the Mississippi.

A telegram was received from Charles S. Smith, president of the New York Chamber of Commerce, calling the attention of the congress to "the late action of this chamber regarding the improvement of the Mississippi river, and particularly the grave importance of protecting the adjacent section from the terrible ravages occasioned by periodical overflows of the river. They beg to most respectfully convey to you their conviction as expressed in their reports and memorials to congress that it is a matter of national importance, and to express the hope that you may consider the subject worthy of consideration."

What Warner and Widner.

A. J. Warner, of Ohio, said that the business of the country was top heavy with bank credits. He wanted the base broadened by the addition of a thousand, or even five thousand, millions in "real money," either gold or silver, and panics would be impossible. Judge R. M. Widner, of Los Angeles, Cal., wanted more money, but had no use for any of the current schemes to that end. He proposed that all the gold and silver be used and supplemented by the issue of $20 to $25 per capita in paper legal tender.

This money question was discussed all the afternoon and at the night session until adjournment at 9 o'clock, but very little that was new was developed.

WITH KEROSENE AND RED PEPPER.

The Suicidal Route Selected by a New York Man.

NEW YORK, April 17.—A second tragedy was enacted in the Lockwood homestead, at North Salem, in Westchester county, early yesterday. Old Jesse Lockwood, who while insane from the grip the other day, clubbed his aged wife to death, and who has been confined to his home and under the charge of Deputy Sheriff Hallock ever since, committed suicide. He was examined Wednesday as to his sanity by Drs. Casselman and Potter. The doctors believed him to be undoubtedly insane, and so decided.

Took a Fearful and Fatal Dose.

Some time Wednesday night Mr. Lockwood got hold of a can of kerosene. He poured a lot of this out into a cup and mixed it with a quantity of red pepper and alcohol. He drank this mixture to the dregs. When found he was dead. The bodies of both husband wife were laid side by side in the parlor of the old homestead. Mr. Lockwood was 70 years of age and his wife 65. They had lived in the old homestead at North Salem all their lives. The family is an old and respected one.

The Death Roll in New York.

NEW YORK, April 17.—For twenty-four hours ended at noon yesterday 227 deaths were reported, the largest number for any day this year. Twenty five resulted from grip.

Twenty-Nine Chicago Wards.

CHICAGO, April 17.—The official count has been completed in twenty-nine of the thirty-four wards of this city. The totals for mayor are: Washburne, 46,038; Cregier, 39,046.

THE BOYCOTT ON THE ALTON.

Lively Scenes in the Union Railway Station at Chicago.

CHICAGO, April 17.—Some very animated scenes were witnessed at the Union station yesterday morning on the arrival of the Alton train. When the through passengers on it presented their tickets to the Pennsylvania officials they refused to honor them or allow the passengers to board the train. Many of the passengers became excited over the matter, and threatened to make it lively for sombody. When the excitement was at its height agents of the Alton road appeared on the scene, took the passengers in charge, provided them with straight Pennsylvania tickets, and sent them on their way satisfied and rejoicing.

Henry Hoese and his wife, of Cedar county, Neb., after worrying through forty years of married life, have concluded that marriage is a failure and agreed to separate, dividing their property.

At Edwardsville, Ills., Wednesday Mrs. Thomas Clark was fatally shot by a burglar her husband attempted to capture. The burglar fired point-blank at her, putting a bullet in her breast just above the heart.

No "Smiles" for Harvard Boys.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 17.—The Harvard boy will have to go dry. This town has always been strongly prohibition. Wednesday evening the aldermen ordered, by a vote of 6 to 2, that but one druggist license be granted for the coming year. Last year forty of them did a big business.

Electrical Storm in Texas.

DENNISON, Tex., April 17.—The most violent electrical storm ever known in this section prevailed here Tuesday night. A number of houses were almost totally demolished by lightning, and many narrow escapes from death are reported. The electric lights were shut off and darkness prevailed.

A Victim of Misplaced Confidence.

ALTOONA, Pa., April 17.—Rose Gillespie, an accomplished young woman of this city, committed suicide Wednesday. She made an ante-mortem statement showing that she had been the victim of misplaced confidence. Her betrayer has been arrested.

The Weather We May Expect.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 17.—The following are the weather indications for twenty-four hours from 8 p. m. yesterday: For Lower Michigan—Rain Friday; southerly winds; stationary temperature in western, warmer in eastern portion. For Upper Michigan and Wisconsin—Rain; southeasterly winds; stationary temperature. For Iowa—Light rain southerly winds; stationary temperature. For Indiana and Illinois—Rain Friday; southerly winds; warmer in northern, stationary temperature in southern portions.

To Mothers.

Every Mother knows that it is much easier to prevent disease than it is to cure it afterwards. When the children begin to show signs of having caught cold, or the baby is restless and uneasy do not delay but give him a dose of REID'S GERMAN COUGH AND KIDNEY CURE. You ought to have it in the house all of the time. It does not do to wait in these cases until the dreaded croup has made its appearance. Then it may be too late. You never ough to allow the children to go to bed with cold and wet feet. If they come home from school in this condition give them a dose of REID'S GERMAN COUGH AND KIDNEY CURE and another one before going to bed and the danger will be over. It will save you in the course of a year one hundred per cent. in doctor's bills and a thousand per cent. in anxiety and annoyance in getting up at night and save probably the lives of some of your darlings. For sale by all druggists, 25 and 50 cents a bottle.

All we claim for it is an unequaled remedy to purify the blood and invigorate the liver. All the year round you can depend on Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in all cases of blood-taints or humors, no matter what their name or nature.

It's the cheapest blood-purifier sold through druggists. No matter how many doses of other medicines are offered for a dollar.

Why? Because it's sold on a peculiar plan, and you only pay for the good you get.

Can you ask more?

"Golden Medical Discovery" is a concentrated vegetable extract, put up in large bottles; contains no alcohol to inebriate, no syrup or sugar to derange digestion; is pleasant to the taste, and equally good for adults or children.

The "Discovery" cures all Skin affections, and kindred ailments.

SANTA CLAUS SOAP

My Country: 'tis of thee,
Sweet land of liberty,
Of thee I sing;
Land where our fathers died;
Land where our Mothers cried,
Over the wash-tub tied
Let freedom ring.
My native country thee—
Land of the noble, free—
Thy name I love;
I love thy tucks and frills
But oh: what laundry bills;
My soul with horror thrills;
When I think of thee.
Let music swell the breeze,
And blow through all the trees
Hail SANTA CLAUS:
Let tired mortals wake
And gladly try a cake,
Let all for cleanness sake,
Join the applause.

MOXIE HALF A DAY OF NEW AND VIGOROUS LIFE IN EVERY BOTTLE.

A harmless, simple food that supersedes the use of stimulants and nervines; recovers nervousness, insomnia, nervous and mental exhaustion and effects of dissipation at once.

In 1863, while hunting for health in South America, LIEUT. MOXIE found the people using what they called POON PLANT as we do greens. Surprised at its effect on his own nervous system, he shipped a bale to Dr. Thomas, asking him to determine its character. Wherever used, the patient said: "It gives me a solid, durable strength, and very good appetite." It cured anything caused by nervous exhaustion; it restored nervous people who were tired out mentally or physically, stopped the appetite for intoxicants, cured insanity, blindness from overtaxing the sight, paralysis, headache, made people able to stand twice their amount of work, mentally or physically, with less fatigue. It was found to be neither medicine nor stimulant, but a nerve food as harmless as milk. Women say: "My nervousness and exhaustion went like magic." For sale everywhere. 45w6

Caution!—There have recently been issued several cheap reprints of the 1847 edition of Webster's Unabridged Dictionary, an edition long since superannuated. These books are given various names,—"Webster's Unabridged," "The Great Webster's Dictionary," "Webster's Big Dictionary," "Webster's Encyclopedic Dictionary," etc., etc.

Many announcements concerning them are very misleading, as the body of each, from A to Z, is 44 years old, and printed from cheap plates made by photographing the old pages.

China silk, with demi-train; it was trimmed with mouslin de soie ruffling, and cut slightly decollete. Her gloves and slippers were to match, and in her hand she carried a bouquet of lemon-color roses. They then turned and led the way to the chancel stairs, divided and stood in two rows, at the same time the ushers, Bret Brubaker, Louie Dement, William McBride, Amos Bosworth, Wm. Barge and Wilber Crawford, moved down the outside aisles and took places back of the bridemaids. The flower girls stood at the white gates, and the maid-of-honor at the left.

The bride with her father passed through to the gates where the groom, with his best man, Mr. Wm. Coleman, a brother from Chicago, stood in waiting. They were met by Rev. Henry C. Granger, the bride handing him her prayer book from which the marriage service was read. After the bride was given away by her father the little golden haired children opened the gates and the bride and groom with maid of honor and best man passed through and followed Rev. Granger to the chancel rail where the vows were given. After the blessing the familiar and beautiful air of Mendelssohn's wedding march sounded the departing notes. Mr. and Mrs. Coleman led the way from the chancel followed by the bridal party. The ribbons were removed and thus ended a pleasant event of the season.

The bride's wedding gown was of white faille silk; the front covered with embroidered mausseline de soi and trimmed in pearl passementry. The train was long, the neck high and the sleeves long. She wore the conventional tulle veil, which was fastened by a spray of natural orange blossoms. Her gloves and slippers were of white undressed kid.

Mrs. Jacob Brubaker, mother of the bride, wore a light shade of Roman red begaline silk trimmed with old rose crepe Du chene.

Mrs. John Coleman was dressed in a very becoming light grey faille silk, cut princess.

The groom, best man and ushers wore full dress suits, white scarfe and white kid gloves. The groom's boutounniere was a white rose as were those of the ushers.

Miss Brubaker is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Brubaker, and one of our accomplished and popular society young ladies and has a host of admiring friends. The groom is the second son of John Coleman, cashier of the Dixon National Bank, an old and highly respected citizen. Fred is a handsome, manly fellow and a bright young business man

The presents were of much value, and very many. One we would like to mention, which indicates the esteem in which Fred is held, is a most beautiful cabinet and three chairs, from the officers and office employes of the Grand Detour Plow company.

THE RECEPTION.

The ladies and gentlemen were met in the reception hall by Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Brubaker, and bid a hearty welcome. The bay window in the parlor had been arranged for the bride and groom, and was a mass of floral decoration. They stood just in front of a beautiful screne of smilax and ferns, with Easter lilies. To their right stood Miss Throop, the maid-of-honor; Mr. W. M. Coleman, best man, and Miss Mae Coleman and Mr. Bret Brubaker. Beyond the double doors were gathered the rest of the bridal party. The floors were covered with white fur rugs, and the parlors were fragrant with roses and carnations, while potted plants, in bloom, and palms of varied forms, were effectively arranged. The piano was a bank of roses and ferns.

The supper table, covered with fruits, was furnished with dainty pink China. The center-piece was composed of pink roses. Lamps on opposite sides, with delicate pink shades, shed a soft light over all. The windows were draped in ferns with pink roses and lilies. Mrs. Wm. Steel, who took Mrs. Col. Noble's place in the dining-room, was attired in a blue and white silk. She was assisted by Mrs. Frederick North, who wore a gown of white and lemon China silk.

Among those who attended the reception were:

Messrs. and Mesdames Chas A Dement, O B Dodge, S S Dodge W D Duffin, S C Eells, J C Flint, T H Eustace, S M Gantz, Horton Godfrey, S Hermanns, J A Hess, D S Horton, G L Howell, C C Hunt, A S Hyde, W Little, Geo C Loveland, David Law, Geo A Morris, J H Morris, R L Morton, F L Murray, F C North, F K Orvis, W B Page, E C Parsons, J B Dille, Theo Rust, C A Todd, E E Shaw, Leonard Andrus, A H Tillson, J W Stephens, Geo Steel, J C Ayres, O B Blackman, William Barge, E C Sickels, W Steel A H Beaver, A E Bodwell, Andrew Brubaker, J E Camp, J R Carpenter, A K Trusdell, N Underwood, John Wasley, I D Appleford, John Laing, C E Chandler, J B Charters, Theron Cumins, Jos Crawford, J D Crabtree. THE LIGHT FANTASTIC

The party given by the J. P. T. Club last night was an elegant and greatly enjoyed occasion. The hall is small for the number of guests present but otherwise an ideal ball room. The Janesvill orchestra furnished inspiring music and the quadrille figures were new and very pleasing. Those in attendance were: Messrs and Mesdames F. L. Murray, William C. Jones, Charles Throop, Prof. and Mrs. W. H. Smith. Misses Anna Baldwin, Mariam Bowles, Nina Parks, Addie Eastwood, Nettie Myers, Elizabeth Barge Lizzie Shober, Nellie McMartin, Lillie Little, Maud Bryant, Florence Ingraham, Bessie Pitcher, Lilly Morrison, Millie Dement, Anna and Lotta Carpenter, Anna Null and Craeby, of this city, and Schriner and Perkins, of Polo. Messrs. Miles Barr, Barkley Bowles, Will Hillis, Will Gilbert, Harry White, G. W. McBride, Bert Page, Will Reynolds, J. E. COLLEGE NOTES.

Out of respect to Colonel Noble, school will close at four o'clock this afternoon. The militia company will be present at the funeral.

Another young man is enjoying the exquisite pleasures of bachelordom and it is highly probable that one more will soon be on the same road.

Prof. Crandle gave a very interesting talk at Chapel this morning on the U. S. Postal System. He offered some very wholesome advice which we hope will be appreciated by everyone.

Major McIntosh, of Decatur, Ills., will lecture in Chapel Hall next Tuesday evening.

The School of Elocution and Oratory will present an entertainment before long we understand, The recital given last term was highly complimentary to both Miss Holman and her pupils.

Prof. Strong and his orchestra, assisted by the vocal talent in the school, will entertain music-loving people some time in the near future.

THE GENTLER SEX.

Mrs. Morton has received as many as 8,000 calls in one day.

Mrs. Windom and her daughter will continue to live in Washington for some time.

Mary Mocejks, of Erie, Pa., has the record of having eloped seven times from one husband.

Elizabeth Sargent, M. D., daughter of the former United States minister to Berlin, is an oculist of exceptional skill. She lives in California.

Two of Fenimore Cooper's daughters, now old ladies, live in Cooperstown, in the very heart of the romantic country that the novelist made famous.

Mrs. Hicks-Lord is the happy possessor of a wonderful card case, made from cloth of gold and literally blazing with diamonds with which it is encrusted.

Among the titled ladies of the court in Rome are stated to be nine Americans, each and every one noted for beauty and more or less brilliant accomplishments.

Baroness Nathaniel Rothschild, who recently purchased the celebrated Strauss collection of objects of Hebraic art, has presented it to the Cluney museum, in Paris.

Miss Emily V. Mason, sister of the first governor of Michigan, and now 75 years of age, was one of the most elegant dames at the large reception given by Governor Winans.

Mme. Bruno Sperani, the chief woman novelist in modern Italy, lives in Milan. She is in the prime of life, has written a number of successful novels and is the center of a literary colony.

Miss Jane Meade Welch, Mrs. Cleveland's protegee and the preacher of the new cult—namely, Americanism and the Constitution—is a slender, dark haired woman, with a high forehead and a strong, masculine face.

Mrs. W. W. Astor's daughter Pauline when at home wears plain gowns of the finest French muslin, with hand run tucks and hand embroidered yokes and skirts. The mull is so exquisitely fine that it is cleaned like silk or satin.

ARMY AND NAVY NOTES.

The contract with Carnegie, Phipps & Co., of Pennsylvania, for $3,500,000 worth of armor plate has been formally executed.

A white pitch has been discovered that can be run into deck seams hot and will stand the sun's heat in any clime.

There are almost as few vacancies now in the United States naval medical corps as at any time in its history.

An expert, writing in The London Times, calls for the abandonment and withdrawal of the 110 ton guns. They are costly, dangerous and short lived. No armor floats which cannot be pierced by 67 tonners.

The new law transferring from the limited to the unlimited retired list of the United States army all officers who have reached the age of 64 is giving the war department a good deal of work.

The secretary of the navy has received petitions signed by 473 sailors of the crews of six naval vessels, protesting against the service of marines on naval vessels at sea, and suggesting that the duties heretofore performed by them be transferred to regularly enlisted sailors.

Sudden Deaths.

Heart disease is by far the most frequent cause of sudden deaths, which in three out of four cases is unsuspected. The symptoms are not generally understood. These are: a habit of lying on the right side, short breath, pain or distress in side, back or shoulder, irregular pulse, asthma, weak and hungry spells, wind in stomach, swelling of ankles or dropsy, oppression, dry cough and smothering Dr Miles' illustrated book on Heart Disease, free at Tillson & Hayden's. Dixon, Ill, who sell and guarantee Dr. Miles unequalled New Heart Cure, and his Restorative Nervine, which cures nervousness, headache, sleeplessness, effects of drinking, etc. It contains no opiates. 3

The following advertisement, published by a prominent western patent medicine house would indicate that they regard disease as a punishment for sin:

"Do you wish to know the quickest way to cure a severe cold? We will tell you. To cure a cold quickly, it must be treated before the cold has settled in the system This can always be done if you choose to, as nature in her kindness to man gives timely warning and plainly tells you in nature's way, that as a punishment for some indiscretion, you are to be afflicted unless you choose to ward it off by prompt action. The first symptons of a cold, in most cases, is a dry, loud cough and sneezing. The cough is soon followed by a profuse watery expectoration and the sneezing by a profuse watery discharge from the nose. In severe cases there is a thin white coating on the tongue. What to do? It is only necessary to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in double doses every hour. That will greatly lessen the severity of the cold and in most cases will effectually counteract it, and cure what would have been a severe cold within one or two days time. Try it and be convinced." 50 cent bottles for sale by H. E. Donaldson, Druggist
